

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR PRODUCING PERSONALIZED PUBLICATIONS

ABSTRACT

A method and system for producing personalized publications is disclosed. A user selects a background image and a foreground image to be placed over the background image. The selected images are then merged to form the completed personalized publication. The personalized publication can then be transmitted to a destination location for viewing and subsequent printing by the user on either a one-time basis or a continuous fashion, based on information provided by the user.

